Dulles Says US Will Not Seek Red's Favor at Allies' Expense

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles said today the United States attaches first importance to its relations with its allies and will not throw their views into the discard just to make speed with the Soviet Union on a disarmament agreement.

Dulles told a news conference that some aspects of disarmament probably can be talked about with Russia on an informal basis.

But he said emphatically that present arms control negotiations are not simply two-way talks between the United States and Russia.

Dulles made these points when questioned about the sudden return here Saturday of disarmament negotiator Harold Stassen.

Stassen was still in Washington today—which means a delay in the scheduled reopening of disarmament talks in London. These had been set for this afternoon.

Dulles' emphasis on the importance of Allied cooperation seemed to bear out reports that Britain and France have complained about Stassen's private talks with Soviet representative Valerian Zorin in London about 10 days ago on new U.S. disarmament proposals.

While Dulles left the way open for some direct Stassen-Zorin contact, his words strongly indicated that he disapproves of any negotiations directly with Russia unless U.S. Allies approve.

Dulles told his news conference on other topics:

1. He assumes that the newly elected Canadian government may want to take a new look at the question of an arctic disarmament zone involving Canadian territory. That might involve further delay in the London negotiations.

2. The United States would not present a first-stage disarmament program involving European territory without the unanimous agreement of all the countries involved. Dulles indicated some difficulties which he described as procedural on how to work out a zone proposal.

3. The United States would probably get more protection out of any disarmament agreement than Russia would because this country fears that under certain circumstances the Soviet Union might attack while the Soviet Union has no reason to fear an American attack.

4. The United States is prepared to join in an exchange of TV-radio programs with the Soviet Union but is not much interested in what Dulles called a one-shot reply to Nikita Khrushchev's recent appearance on a panel program. An American proposal for an exchange of 30-minute programs once a month is still open, Dulles said. It was first put forth at the Geneva foreign ministers meeting 18 months ago.

Urges Allies To Decide on 'Open Skies'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has urged its European allies to be ready to decide quickly whether an "open skies" test zone in Europe should be included in any first-stage disarmament agreement with Russia.

Disarmament chief Harold Stassen is understood to have recommended that a high-level committee of experts be set up within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to handle this problem.

Diplomatic officials reported Stassen suggested this move because he thinks Russia will insist that a European as well as an arctic test zone be agreed upon in initial disarmament moves.

These back-stage Western maneuvers came to light as Stassen arranged to meet today with Secretary of State Dulles. They will review a disarmament counter-proposal the United States will lay before the Soviets within a few days.

Stassen, who flew in from London Sunday, plans tentatively to return to London Wednesday to resume arms talks with Soviet, British, French and Canadian representatives.

Authorities familiar with developments said Stassen urged European allied governments last week to start thinking of the European zone problem.

The American plan is understood to omit any proposal for a European open skies zone even though the Soviets in a proposal April 30 made clear they favored such an area.

Trucking Increase Is Signed

Governor Blair Has No Comment About Law to Let Heavier Trucks in Missouri

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. James T. Blair signed bills to let longer and heavier trucks operate in Missouri and to charge them bigger fees for the privilege.

Blair had no comment on the bills, which caused one of the hottest controversies in the 1957 legislative session, pitting railroad and truck lobbyists against each other in a bitter battle.

In the tense final days of the session, when the measures were still in dispute, a disagreement over them broke into a fist fight between two members on the floor of the House.

Under the old law, 45 feet was the maximum length for trucks and 60,010 pounds the maximum weight. The new law, effective Aug. 29, increases the top limits to 50 feet and 64,650 pounds.

Fees for trucks over 60,010 pounds were increased from $600 to $800 a year for over-the-road haulers and from $200 to $235 a year for local hauling.

Sponsors of the bills said the size increase would break a transcontinental bottleneck which has forced the largest trucks either to detour around Missouri or to break up their loads for smaller trucks at the state's borders.

Originally, the "big truck" bill was introduced without a fee increase. A separate fee bill was introduced late in the session after opponents of the original bill charged the largest trucks were not paying their fair share of road costs and should not be allowed to increase the size of their loads without paying for the privilege.

A new attack on the nursing home problem is provided in another bill signed by the governor. It will permit county courts to issue general obligation or revenue bonds to build and maintain nursing homes.

After they are constructed, the county courts may lease them to non-profit organizations, such as church groups, to operate them.

Also signed were two bills designed to smooth state government operations.

One increases the salary of State Comptroller Newton Atterbury from $7,000 to $11,000 a year and puts his office directly under the governor, instead of under the director of revenue. The comptroller is appointed by the governor and is his chief budget officer.

The other bill, recommended by the "Little Hoover" Commission, will transform a state warrant into a negotiable check as soon as it is countersigned by State Treasurer M. E. Morris. Morris estimated the change would save the state about $25,000 a year.

Other bills signed included ones to:

Simplify commitments to state mental hospitals, requiring examination by only one doctor instead of two. This bill becomes effective at once.

Designate the State Board of Education as the state agency to receive and distribute federal surplus property—a job it is already handling under an executive order.

Require full time salaried fire departments to defend firemen in damage suits arising from fire truck accidents.

SEEKS HELP FOR BROTHER—Louis Girard, 28, and his wife arrive in Washington to continue their fight for a reversal of the order turning Girard's brother, Army Specialist 3/3 William S. ## Appear in Federal Court

Lawyers Attempt to Keep Girard From Japanese Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lawyers for Army Specialist 3/3 William S. Girard go before a U. S. district judge today in their attempt to keep the 21-year-old GI from being tried by a Japanese court.

Government attorneys declared yesterday U. S. foreign relations would suffer "untold damage" and this country's hands would be tied if courts are permitted to upset decisions such as the one giving Japan the right to prosecute Girard for the death of a Japanese woman.

Girard, through an array of 12 lawyers, seeks a writ of habeas corpus from Dist. Judge Joseph C. McGarraghy.

His attorneys contend he was officially on duty at the time of the incident and that, under a U. S. Japanese agreement, he therefore is subject to a U. S. court-martial.

The Defense Department's view, as stated by its general counsel Robert Dechert in a Miami interview last night, "is that Girard's actions leading to the death . . . represented such a complete departure from his duty at the time that he could not have been considered on duty."

President Eisenhower was represented in authoritative quarters as being determined to stand by the decision to hand Girard over to Japanese courts. He was said to have taken the position that the word and prestige of the United States are at stake in the Far East.

The President discussed the matter with congressional leaders before he announced his decision. He was represented as greatly disturbed by the domestic uproar over the case. He was said to feel, however, that the stakes in the Orient are too high to bow to popular opinion at home.

This position was in line with the government's contention that the ruling giving Japan, rather than a U. S. military court, jurisdiction to try Girard was "a potential decision not subject to judicial review."

In a statement, Johnson said, "on the basis of the facts now before us, I am hopeful that the Senate will approve the authorization bill without further reductions."

Johnson held open the possibility the program will undergo some cuts when the appropriation bill to provide the actual money comes up for action. The authorization measure simply sets ceilings.

He said he believes the bill in its present form "serves the interests of our people" and that it can be embraced by the Senate "as an important contribution to our national security and freedom."

Subsequently Knowland said he believes the measure will clear the Senate "without substantial change" from the form in which it left the committee.

Earlier two leading advocates of sharp cuts conceded they would be lucky to make even small ones in the authorization bill.

Ike Goes Back To His Work

President Makes Wisecrack About Getting 'Few Steaks'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, "virtually recovered" from his stomach upset, unexpectedly spent about an hour and 45 minutes at his desk today.

He was far enough along the recovery road to make a wisecrack to newsmen about getting at "a few steaks."

After his stint at the office Eisenhower returned to the White House living quarters for lunch and a midday rest.

After his stint at the office Eisenhower returned to the White House living quarters for lunch and a midday rest.

During the office stay the President signed an appropriation bill carrying $562,891,293 for the State and Justice departments and the federal judiciary for the fiscal year starting July 1.

He also sent to Congress a request for a supplemental appropriation for that year — an increase of $30,000 to meet expenses of the Senate restaurant.

Eisenhower also dictated several letters to his private secretary and conferred with five White House aides at separate meetings.

Eisenhower showed up in his office a few minutes before 10 a.m., an hour after his physician reported him "virtually recovered" from his stomach ailment.

A 9 a.m. medical bulletin had said Eisenhower would have no engagements in his office during the day, but had left open the possibility of his returning to his desk.

A few minutes after Eisenhower arrived in the office, photographers and reporters were admitted briefly.

The President greeted the group with a broad smile. He was in excellent spirits and there was little trace in his face of the illness which kept him confined to bed all day yesterday.

The President was natty in a light brown suit, white shirt and red tie with a purple figure.

He asked photographers whether they wanted him to stand or remain seated at his desk. They asked him to stay seated.

"Is your stomach sore?" one photographer asked.

"No, not at all — it isn't this morning," Eisenhower replied with a chuckle. Then he added: "I'd be able to do with a few steaks."

It wasn't until late yesterday afternoon that Eisenhower got his first serving of semisolid food—a helping of milk toast. He had more of that and some chicken broth during the evening, and then prunes, cereal with warm milk, toast and honey.

In his office, the President told newsmen he had come over from the White House living quarters to sign a few papers and handle some other work.

New Scandal Develops

Auditors Say Shortage Is Over Million Dollars

CHICAGO (AP) — Auditors checking records in the Cook County treasurer's office yesterday announced a shortage of funds that may exceed a million dollars and involve the entire tax foreclosure structure.

State's Atty. Benjamin S. Adamowski said of the discovery: "It is our understanding that this case dates back into the entire tax foreclosure picture."

"In our opinion we have the makings of a scandal which far exceeds what was called to our attention two weeks ago," he added.

At that time, Treasurer Herbert C. Paschen reported that at least $444,000 was missing in a case "with overtones of similarity with the Hodge scandal."

Orville Hodge, ousted Illinois state auditor, is serving a state sentence of 12 to 15 years in prison after his plea of guilt to charges stemming from the theft of more than two million dollars of public funds.

Adamowski said the new shortage has nothing to do with the first one. The second shortage was discovered by auditors checking interest and penalties on real estate taxes.

"The pattern we are certain of now, covers the period from 1947 up to and including 1956," Adamowski said.

A preliminary investigation covered two periods. The first was in 1954 when Republican John Brenza was in office and the second in 1956 when Paschen, the present Democratic office holder, was treasurer.

Adamowski said the period investigated during Brenza's term showed $94,752 should have been collected as interest in foreclosures, but apparently only $41,171 was taken in.

The period under Paschen should have brought a total of $102,964 instead of the actual $35,058, the state's attorney said.

Two employees were suspended by Paschen in the wake of the first investigation. They are Ernest E. Peterson, 57 head book-keeper and treasurer's office employee since 1939; and Milton Baer, 55, supervisor of the foreclosure department since 1932.

Mayflower II Arrival Time Is Uncertain

PROVINCETOWN, Mass. (AP)—Mayflower II today was reported about 200 miles off the mainland, but just when she would arrive at her Plymouth destination was purely speculation.

Capt. Alan Villiers, skipper of the bark recreating the original Plymouth sailing in 1620, radioed the Plymouth reception at midnight that there is little prospect of good sailing winds, adding, "We could be here for days."

Mayflower II was reported yesterday about 60 miles west southwest of Nantucket lightship. The lightship is about 13 miles from Plymouth.

There has been no further word of the vessel's position in Villiers' messages to the mainland.

Mayflower II was scheduled to arrive at Provincetown, on the tip of Cape Cod, at noon today to commemorate the signing of the Mayflower Compact.

Members of the Provincetown committee say they have no idea now when the square-rigged bark will arrive for her brief stopover about half a mile offshore.

Ronald Forth, chairman of the Plymouth reception committee, said early today, "The Mayflower could arrive as late as Friday. She'll be in Plymouth by Saturday, you can count on that."

A Weather Bureau official at Boston said he was mystified by Capt. Villiers' message that he holds out little hope for favorable winds.

Samuel Penn, district forecaster at the Boston Weather Bureau, said: "I can't understand why they aren't getting a good breeze."

At about 2 a.m. today, the Weather Bureau reported a nine m.p.h. southwesterly wind in the area of the Mayflower II. That was described as a favorable wind.

Forth said, "The delay will not hurt the 12-day celebration in any way."

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Rackets Committee has postponed until June 20 further hearings on the Bakers Union. The hearings, recessed last Friday, were to have resumed Thursday.

The postponement was called, the committee said, primarily to permit committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy and possibly other officials to testify at the contempt of Congress trials of two Teamsters Union officials, Frank W. Brewster and Einar O. Mohn.

Brewster, head of the Teamsters Western Conference, and Mohn, Teamsters executive vice president, refused last January to testify before the Senate Investigations subcommittee, and challenged its jurisdiction.

Dignity Is Regained; Swimming Suit Lost

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP)—When Mrs. Mary Massara prepared to leave Orange County General Hospital she asked for her $28 black appliqued swim suit.

Attendants told her that when she was admitted as an emergency case she was wearing only a diamond ring.

Mrs. Massara remembered that she was overcome by the tide off

Newport Beach, but she was sure she hadn't lost her swim suit in the process.

She appealed to Dr. Lewis Ellmore, medical director of the hospital. His investigation disclosed that she did, indeed, have her suit on when she was admitted.

Mrs. Massara has regained her dignity, but not the $28 suit. Dr. Ellmore is still investigating.

CONSTIPATED?

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be remoistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it to action; to a normal urge to purge. And, of all laxatives, only COLONOID, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONOID's great moisturizing capacity, plus COLONOID's stretching stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONOID is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy. Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONOID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions. It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONOID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! ## Kitchen Stove Blast Kills Five Persons

MADISON, Conn. (P)—Five persons died last night after a kerosene stove exploded in the kitchen of their home.

Dead were 29-year-old Mrs. Mary Cooley, her brother, Charles VanderWarker, 37, and Mrs. Cooley's three children, Mary, 3; Patricia, 2, and Suzanne, 10 months. Three other persons in the house at the time escaped without injury.

They were Mrs. Cooley's father, Charles Sr., about 70; her other brother, William, 34, and her sister, Mrs. Leona Handy, 39.

Sgt. Charles Nilson of the Madison police said he pieced the following account together from survivors:

The grandfather, his two grown sons, and Mrs. Handy were in the kitchen. Mrs. Cooley was upstairs putting the children to bed.

Water for the laundry was heating in a washtub on top of the three burner kerosene stove, fed by a gallon jug of fuel.

When the water was hot the four people started to lift it off. The water slopped over, causing the burners to flare up and the stove caught fire.

Nilson quoted William as saying:

"Me and my brother and sister tried to grab hold of the oil burner and tried to throw it out into the yard." They couldn't budge it.

Charles Jr. ran upstairs to help Mrs. Cooley with the children. The other three fled out the back door as the stove blew up.

Charles got the two oldest daughters and started down the stairs, where the rapidly-spreading fire trapped them. Firemen found their charred bodies there when the fire was put out.

Mrs. Cooley and the baby died in the upstairs bedroom.

Meantime William ran out and shouted to a neighbor, Mrs. John Pauk, who called the fire department.

She said later, "The house was burning like a bonfire. There was nothing anyone could do for them next door. No one could live in those flames."

'Mystery of Black Lizard Is Solved

NEW YORK (P)—The mystery of how a big black lizard got into a Brooklyn back yard has been solved.

The owner of a nearby pet shop claimed the four-foot reptile yesterday. The lizard had gone for a stroll and wound up eating bread crusts in a yard adjoining the home of Mrs. Dorothy Jannotte.

Mrs. Jannotte spotted the lizard Sunday. Her husband bagged it with a crab net.

The owner identified the lizard as a 10-year-old male from South America.

Simulated Grocery Store Lost to Fire

HOLLYWOOD (P)—The script called for a small fire in a grocery store, but special effects man Roland Chiniquy made it a colossal production.

He burned the joint down.

The fire yesterday on the set of the filmed television show State Trooper roared out of control.

Chiniquy, who has been producing controlled movie fires for 15 years, pointed a hose at the flames licking 30 feet high. He called for water, but—

"Just a trickle came out — no pressure," he said. "Was I embarrassed!"

Five fire units finally came to the rescue, but the simulated grocery store was destroyed.

The series' producer kept a stiff upper lip, however, and announced that the charred interior was just what the next scene called for.

Bulgarian Celebrates 62nd Birthday With Scotch, Soda, Finns

LAHTI, Finland (P)—Soviet Premier Bulganin took a capitalistic drink—a scotch and soda—to start off his 62nd birthday celebration early today and drank it down in one gulp.

Khrushchev toasted Bulganin as "the new-born Finn."

Finnish Prime Minister V. J. Sukselainen piped up: "To the bottom."

Bulganin emptied his glassful in a gulp, drew a deep breath and

We'd Settle For 40,000

A former Sedalian was telling about the rapid growth of the home of his adoption in another state—population growth in the past two decades from 40,000 to 100,000.

That's a big jump. As for Sedalia we'd settle for 40,000 and stop right there. There are too many disadvantages getting too big. Think of all the traffic problems, street paving problems, liquor license problems, sewer problems and problems which would be added to what we already have if we got up to 100,000.

We might even have "Brooklyn disease" which produces nothing if not originality among the restlessness of its juveniles.

Take for instance a recent picnic for underprivileged, a form of entertainment which is always welcomed and appreciated in smaller communities. But to some of the kids in the big cities such affairs seems pretty tame. They have to be livened up.

Here was the box score after 55 Brooklyn youngsters put a little spice in their Memorial Day outing:

Two boys hospitalized for injuries inflicted by knife and baseball bat.

One man beaten and another severely cut.

One grocery store wrecked.

Six youths arrested for assault and juvenile delinquency.

The big event came when the picnic bus broke down on the way home. The underprivileged decided to acquire a little privilege. They stormed a grocery store and helped themselves to its stocks of ice cream, candy, cookies, etc. When the grocer suggested this was a trifle irregular, they beat him up.

Two neighborhood lads who sought to aid him got it, too—clubbed with a bat and the other stabbed.

However, we prefer the wide open prairies of Central Missouri with Sedalia (26,000) right in the center, and 40,000 would not change adult or juvenile behaviorism too much.

Housewives Watch Voting On Gas Bill

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—This week the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee begins voting on a bill which will add about $950,000,000 to the gas bill of housewives. It's the much-discussed, much-lobbied natural gas bill which like vetoed last year after a lobbyist for Superior Oil tried to give $2,500 to Senator Case of South Dakota.

This year the bill is being piloted by a genial, slow-talking gentleman from Arkansas, Rep. Oren Harris, a close friend of public utility mogul Sam Moses of Arkansas Power, who once presented Mrs. Harris with a batch of nylons when nylons were scarce. Harris recently acquired a 25 per cent interest in station KRBB-TV in El Dorado, Ark., for only $5,000—probably the year's best television bargain. As chairman of the House Interstate Commerce Committee he sits in judgment on the FCC which hands out TV licenses.

The gentleman from Arkansas is no corn-pone congressman. He is as shrewd as he is affable. There are several things to watch as he wields the gavel inside the committee on the natural gas bill. One is whether he waits for Rep. Charles Wolverton of Camden, N.J., ranking Republican on the committee, to return from Europe. Wolverton led the fight against the gas bill last year. He won't return until June 14.

Another thing to watch is any whispering between Harris and Congressman Sam Friedel, the Baltimore Democrat, who, by moving to reconsider last year, permitted the bill to get out of committee. Baltimore will pay several million dollars extra if the gas bill passes. Yet, despite a bawling out from Baltimore's Mayor D'Allesandro, Friedel last year played into the hands of the gas lobby.

Mayors Get Run-Around

The public, and even most congressmen, have not known how skillfully Harris has maneuvered the gas bill before his committee; how adroitly he has suppressed testimony by the mayors of the nation's largest cities.

Harris told the mayors they could testify during the week of May 14, but refused to name specific days and hours. So Mayor Charles Taft of Cincinnati, brother of the late Senator from Ohio, came to Washington, cooled his heels in the committee room. Finally he approached Harris.

"I can only be in town for today," said Mayor Taft. "I'd appreciate it if you could give me some time."

"I'm sorry," replied Harris, "but unfortunately I'm unable to grant your request because so many people are ahead of you."

Mayor Taft returned to Cincinnati without testifying.

Mayor Robert Wagner of New York City was also stalled off. Representing 8,000,000 New Yorkers who don't want their gas bills raised, Wagner was considered the most dramatic witness against the gas bill. Harris knew this. Maybe that was why he stalled Wagner.

After repeated urging, Harris finally agreed on a time when Wagner could testify. Significantly, Harris made it an afternoon when the House was expected to vote on the $36,000,000,000 defense budget.

The night before Wagner's scheduled appearance, Harris sent the mayor a telegram telling him not to come. The defense budget would be up for amendment on the House floor, he said, and the rules required committee members to be there. The committee hearing was canceled.

The excuse was phony. On that same day six important House committees held meetings, namely foreign affairs, merchant marine, rules, ways and means, joint atomic energy, and the conference committee on the commerce budget.

On the House floor, Harris uttered just 131 words regarding the defense bill—to ask that the Army and Navy General Hospital in Hot Springs, Ark., not be closed. For this the appearance of the mayor of New York was canceled.

They Got Favored

In contrast, lobbyists for gas companies got favored treatment.

Randall Le Boeuf, attorney for Consolidated Edison of New York, had a special committee meeting set up on May 20 when none had been scheduled. He said he was due in court on May 21, so Harris went out of his way to get his testimony.

On the other hand, when Reps. John Heseltin (R., Mass.) and Torbert MacDonald (D., Mass.) wanted to cross-examine John Heyke, a lobbyist for the bill, Harris arranged for Heyke to get out of town.

Heyke represents the Brooklyn Union Gas Company and had worked behind closed doors with a secret group of natural gas executives to draw up parts of the Harris bill. But when the two Massachusetts congressmen wanted to question him, Harris got Heyke out of the way by accepting his written statement at 7 o'clock on the evening of May 22, when only Harris and Rep. William H. Avery (R., Kan.) were left in the committee room.

Two days later Heseltin and MacDonald discovered this, protested, and Heyke was finally called back on June 3.

That's how skillful Chairman Harris was in trying to pass a bill which will cost housewives about $950,000,000.

Mailbag

Dabney White, Greensboro, N.C.—Despite the sincere convictions of the Rev. David Andrews in contributing $127.51 of his tax money to the UN children's fund, and refusing to pay it for national defense and war, I am afraid the Treasury cannot possibly let him do this. When former Gov. Bracken Lee of Utah withheld part of his taxes because tax money went for foreign aid, the Treasury ruled against him. Under our form of government, we have to abide by majority rule. The alternative is anarchy and chaos.

Guest Editorial—

LOS ANGELES TIMES: Farmers and Tree Growing. Farmers are not generally associated with the growing of trees as a commercial crop and yet a good many of them are engaged in doing just that. At the present time farmers in 44 states—perhaps it would be more technically correct to say landowners—are engaged in growing timber crops as voluntary members of the American Tree Farm system which is sponsored by the American Forest Products Industries.

Last year nearly 4 million acres was enrolled under the program bringing the national acreage total to 41,548,217. This marked a 10 per cent gain over the previous year indicating the growing acceptance by landowners of the tree farming system as a co-ordinated, co-operative endeavor, promoted in the best interests and traditions of free enterprise.

There are no government handouts involved; simply the recognition of industry, initiative and self-reliance. The tree farmer can be helped with problems of marketing and management but he is his own boss insofar as the commercial growing of trees is concerned.

It is estimated that there are nearly 4,500,000 "small" wood lot owners whose acreage holdings are under 500. These owners hold 61 per cent of the country's commercial forest land and they market annually 700 million dollars worth of forest products. But markets are not always near at hand, nor are all of them known to the farmer.

Proper management, of course, is the key to profit. Wood is one of our country's most valuable commodities and anything that promotes its growth and use contributes to the country's economy.

Forget Tax Cut Dream

Naturally there is always keen competition in the matter of taking credit for tax cuts.

Word from Washington was that the Democrats had originally decided on seeking a reduction this year — to take effect next January — because they wanted to beat the Republicans to the punch.

President Eisenhower has been saying all along that a cut would have to wait, but evidently the Democrats feared a surprise move by the GOP.

Now Democratic leaders have given up their drive to enact a cut this year, while still voicing hope for 1958. And the President goes on reasserting that reductions aren't yet possible.

It isn't wholly clear whether the change in Democratic strategy reflects a reappraisal of budget prospects or a guess that the GOP after all does not have any "ax" surprises up its sleeve.

In any event, citizens can put off figuring any cuts in taxes into their family budget plans for early 1958. It'll be a while yet.

Decision on GI Wives Causes Confusion

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — For the sheer confusion that could result, the Supreme Court's decision — freeing two American women who killed their soldier husbands overseas — may become a legal classic.

The two women—Mrs. Dorothy Krueger Smith, who knifed her husband in Japan, and Mrs. Clarence B. Covert, who axed her husband in England—were tried by American military courts-martial and convicted.

The court yesterday said it is unconstitutional for the dependents of servicemen overseas to be tried by courts-martial for a capital offense, like murder. Why?

The court ruled, in a majority opinion written by Justice Black:

Under the Constitution an American citizen is guaranteed the right to trial by jury. Therefore it is unconstitutional to try a civilian—at least for murder — by a military court.

Two of the six justices voting with the majority specifically limited their concurrence to capital cases, so whether a civilian could be court-martialed for an offense less than murder may require another ruling someday.

But Justice Clark, dissenting from the majority opinion, raised questions which, for brevity, are paraphrased here.

If a serviceman's wife kills her husband overseas but can't be tried by court-martial — because the court rules she's entitled to jury trial—who will try her? A court in the country where the crime happened?

If it happened in Japan, she couldn't get a jury trial because Japan has no jury system. Trial there is by judges. Should she be brought back here for trial? Congress would have to pass a law to provide for that.

But Clark doesn't think that would work. If—say it happened in Japan — there were Japanese witnesses, this country couldn't force them to come to the United States to testify. It has no power to. They're Japanese citizens.

And Clark noted that the Constitution, in guaranteeing jury trials, doesn't distinguish between murder and lesser crimes.

It's possible this decision will affect all the status-of-forces agreements this country has with other countries. The background on that will provide the background for the majority decision.

If you, as a civilian unconnected with the armed forces, went to a foreign country and committed a crime, there is no doubt of what would happen. That country could try you, no matter what kind of court system it had.

But the Constitution, which guarantees citizens the right to trial by jury, also gave Congress the power to make "rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces."

So the Uniform Code of Military Justice, under which the armed forces operate, comes under the authority of Congress. That code provides that civilians connected with the armed forces overseas can be tried by military courts.

But this country has troops in many foreign countries. Many of them claim the right to try anyone who breaks their laws. So some agreement had to be worked out with them in the case of Americans connected with the armed forces.

The status-of-forces agreements now in effect in a number of countries where American troops are stationed, including Japan, says, taking Japan for an example:

If an American soldier commits a crime under Japanese law, but does it while performing his official duty, he can be tried by American court-martial. If the crime is committed off duty, the Japanese can try him.

If an attached American civilian commits a crime under Japanese law, the Japanese can try him or her except when the offense is committed against American property or against a member of the American armed forces or a serviceman's dependent or a civilian connected with the armed forces.

The Supreme Court—at least in the case of murder — said this agreement or treaty can't take away a civilian's right to trial by jury. But if the armed forces no longer can try a civilian for murder committed in a foreign country, say Japan, will the Japanese now demand the right to try him?

Dr. Jordan Says

Many Appendicitis Deaths Could Have Been Avoided

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.
It is desirable to issue a warning about appendicitis every once in a while.

This tricky and common condition is still responsible for several thousand deaths each year, most of which could have been avoided.

The appendix usually lies in the lower right part of the abdomen. But it may be on the left side or it can be twisted so that it lies toward the back. Hence the location of pain may not always be alike.

Furthermore, acute appendicitis does not always cause severe pain. In older people especially the pain may be slight and may not be located where it is expected to be. In fact, the pain is likely to be, at least at first, pretty much over the entire abdomen.

Vomiting with appendicitis is common, but diarrhea is rare. Fever is the rule, though this is often not very high.

The presence of too many white blood cells almost invariably accompanies acute appendicitis. For this reason a blood count is, most important if appendicitis is suspected.

Cathartics or laxatives are dangerous. If there is the slightest question of appendicitis the best thing to do while waiting for a diagnosis is to eat and drink nothing at all. Laxatives (and to a lesser extent, food and drink) produce wave-like movements in the intestines which greatly increase the chances of rupturing the appendix and spilling the inflamed and germ-laden contents into the abdominal cavity.

In recent years penicillin has often been given before operation and afterwards. This seems to make the recovery somewhat easier.

Most deaths from appendicitis could be avoided if more people realized the risks of using laxatives or of waiting too long before the appendix is removed.

cent of any damages collected over $500.

Gov. James T. Blair has released $10,000 in emergency funds for research on the soybean cyst nematode, a pest which has already brought on a federal quarantine in Dunklin and Pemiscot counties.

State agriculture commissioner John Sam Williamson said the research work would be carried on in Audrain, Carroll and Chariton counties as well as in southeast Missouri. He said the work would consist of surveying the counties for possible infestation and to pinpoint the exact spot of infestation.

As the result of action by the 69th General Assembly, the people of Missouri will have a chance to vote on two proposed constitutional amendments this fall.

The legislature only approved two of 33 proposed constitutional amendments. The two which won approval of the legislature provide technical changes in the state auditors office and election law changes.

The change in the state auditor's office will eliminate a so-called pre-audit of all state debts by the auditor. Haskell Folman, state auditor, said the function is a "needless duplication of work done by the comptroller's office. His office will still retain the duty of auditing all debts after they are paid."

The other proposed change will permit the legislature to set up laws to let persons who have been in Missouri only 60 days vote for the national ticket of president and vice-president. Now, such persons are in the position of being neither legal voting residents of Missouri nor the state from which they came.

Billy Graham Revival

Uses Tales of Modern Life To Illustrate Old Lessons

By GEORGE CORNELL

NEW YORK — To put across his points, Billy Graham relies on the parable.

Each night at his big-scale New York crusade, which today rounds out its fourth week, he weaves little tales of modern life to illustrate ancient lessons.

It's a preaching technique used by Jesus. Graham rings in up-to-the-minute facts and concrete events to portray the old ideas.

He puts classic parables in modern dress, and adds new ones of his own.

Last night, for instance, in maintaining that you have to have the right attitude toward Christ—not just a sincere attitude, Graham told some stories:

One was about the football player who ran 65 yards with the ball—"with complete sincerity"—but he lost the game because he ran the wrong direction.

Another was about the mother who "in all sincerity" gave her son medicine to cure him—but made him even sicker because she mistakenly gave him iodine.

"Many people that are sincere are desperately wrong when it comes to the matter of going to Heaven," he told a crowd of 16,500 at Madison Square Garden.

"Following the conscience can be wrong because the conscience may be seared and dead if it's not in Christ. You choose either to follow Christ, or you go your own way... the way of self, of pride, of ego."

To choose Christ's way, he added, is a "bending of the will, a subjugation of the ego" by which Christ sensitizes the conscience.

To help keep Graham supplied with fresh allegories, his wife Ruth does her reading on the lookout for episodes that might provide new material.

Here are a couple of other examples of how the evangelist depicts age-old metaphysics by the things of the world, circa 1957:

1. When God forgives, he wipes out sin, remembers it no more—like turning a knob on a recording machine and erasing the sound forever. God has that ability to forget, to erase—an ability man's brain does not have.

2. When a preacher says "messages travel from God to our hearts, you say, that's crazy." In the same way, if someone had told your grandfather the air was full of traveling pictures (television), he would have called it crazy.

Last night, 384 persons responded to Graham's plea to "accept Christ," raising the total to 16,229. So far, attendance at the crusade totals 483,500.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Diffenbacher, D. D.

Mowing the lawn with a hand mower and clipping the edges with shears is a tedious and irksome process, but the lawn looks so much better after the job is done. The hours we spend cutting grass seem so futile because we scarcely finish the task when we have to repeat the process.

Occasionally, we wait too long between mowings. The grass grows tall. It becomes matted. The weeds grow faster than the grass. Lawns seem to require constant attention.

The nice green outdoor carpets are comparable to the religious phases of our lives. Religion requires a great deal of attention. If we neglect our spiritual responsibilities, sin can creep in and grow very rapidly. Our lives can become pretty disreputable if we do not keep our worship active.

Three Sedalians To Participate In Naval Review

Three local men will take part in an International Naval Review scheduled to be held June 12 at Hampton Roads, Va.

They are: Harold E. Duvall, yeoman third class, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl G. Duvall, 1006 South Ohio, aboard the destroyer USS Benham; Claude N. Martin, sonarman seaman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Martin, Stover, aboard the destroyer USS Sherman; and Russell H. Harbit, disbursing clerk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Waldo W. Harbit, Green Ridge, aboard the support aircraft carrier USS Valley Forge.

More than 60 U.S. Atlantic Fleet ships, headed by the latest in aircraft carriers, battleships, guided missile cruisers, destroyers and submarines, have been chosen to represent the United States. In addition, at least 18 foreign nations will display their might for the first international naval review to be held in American waters since 1907.

Defense Secretary Charles Wilson is expected to represent President Eisenhower at the review.

The ships will be in the Hampton Roads area for "Fleet Week" which ends June 17. During this time, numerous "American type" entertainment events have been planned by the local civilian committee, especially for the visiting navymen.

The review will be a major highlight of the Jamestown Festival, commemorating the 350th anniversary of the founding of the Jamestown, Va., colony in 1607.

Wilhite Hurls
Shutout for Western Auto

Western Auto moved into a tie for first place last night when they defeated Anderson's by a score of 5-0 behind the superb hurling of David Wilhite.

Wilhite faced only 24 men in the seven-inning contest, allowing 3 hits and walking only one man, that man being erased when hit by a batted ball. Wilhite struck out 11 men and was never in serious trouble as he allowed no one to get past second base. Meanwhile his teammates were able to score five runs off of the Anderson's team.

Nicky Nichols allowed only six hits and struck out 13, but walked eight men, which in the end proved to be his downfall. Larry Lueck was the leading hitter for Western Auto, getting a long double in the fourth to drive in the first run and he singled in the sixth to drive in another score. Horner also doubled to drive in a run in the fifth inning. Other hitters for Western Auto were Wilhite, Anderson and Fricke.

Western Auto also played flawlessly in the field, being the first team this season to play a complete game without making an error. For Anderson's Nichols, Garrison and Hanigan all hit safely.

In the first game of the evening Mullins defeated Phillips 6-6 by a score of 15-3. This was a close game for four innings but the roof caved in on Phillips in the fifth, when the Mullins team sent 19 men to bat and scored 14 runs. Werts and Cole were the leading hitters for Mullins each getting a double and a single. Dow, Kelly, and Mulcahey also hit safely for the winning team.

For Phillips 6-6 Weising, Walker Bennett and Mateja each hit safely once. Cole started on the mound for Mullins but was relieved in the fourth by Jim Mulcahey who shut the Phillips team out for the rest of the game and received credit for the victory. For Phillips Bryan started on the mound and was relieved in the fifth by Stout.

Wednesday's schedule: Western Auto vs. McCown, 6 p.m.; and Brown vs. Phillips, 8 p.m.

Musial to Equal
Iron Man Record
In Game Tonight

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Stan Musial, perhaps the National League's all-time No. 1 player, reaches another milestone tonight when he plays in his 822nd consecutive game. That will equal Gus Suhr's National League "Iron Man" record set 10 years ago.

The great St. Louis Cardinal star already holds the league record for most extra-base hits. He is almost certain to add to the runs scored, runs batted in, total bases and two-base hit titles before he finally lays aside his bat. He began the season with 774 consecutive games played since the start of the 1952 season.

He has played in all his team's 47 games so far for a grand total of 821, a figure which would have been much higher had he not agreed to his manager's wish to sit out the final game of the 1951 season.

Musial's endurance mark is all the more amazing because of his insistence on playing despite assorted injuries, illnesses and compliance to his manager's wishes to divide his duties between first base and all three out field positions during the past 10 seasons.

A star without temperament, the pride of Donora, Pa., ranks second to the late Lou Gehrig with nine complete seasons. Gehrig, who rolled up the major league high of 2,130 games from June 1, 1925, through April 30, 1939, took part in all his club's games for 13 consecutive years.

Miteff Looks Good

NEW YORK (AP)—With just one year of experience behind him, Argentina's handsome, husky Alex Miteff, 22, appeared headed today for a ranking among the world's top ten heavyweight contenders.

The undefeated, 6-1, invader decisively whipped Germany's Willi Besmanoff at St. Nicholas Arena last night to chalk up his ninth victory in as many fights.

Considering it was Miteff's first fight in six months, the Argentine looked real impressive in pounding Besmanoff's body red and chopping his face in the telecast 10-round.

Miteff was awarded the unanimous decision by the following votes: Referee Tedy Martin, 7-2-1, Judge Joe Agnello, 9-1, and Judge Bert Grant, 6-3-1. The AP card had Miteff in front, 7-2-1.

Miteff, the 9-5 favorite, outweighed his rival 124 pounds—202½ to 190½—and he made good use of his weight advantage. He kept pressing the chunky German throughout, wearing him down with thumping body punches and battering his face at close quarters. Willi was cut over both eyes.

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The 57th National Open Golf Tournament shaped up more strongly as a probable battle of the time-hardened oldsters and provided the pointed query:

Whatever became of the celebrated "youth movement?"

"These kids just don't have the shots yet," said Jimmy Demaret, 37, whose putting touch has made him one of the pretournament choices for the record $7,200 top prize money in the event starting Thursday.

"They're all fine players but they haven't had their games sharpened by tough championship courses and stern competition."

Gene Sarzen, 55, who won his first Open in 1922 and another a decade later, said he felt that the fault lay in the vanishing caddies.

"The motor carts are ruining our golf," said the Germantown, N. Y., squire. "Our modern young golfers learn their shots from technical books. Back in the old days, we learned by caddying for great masters."

Some of the top-notch youngsters agreed they weren't quite ready to wrest the sport's supremacy from the aging Hogans and Sneads.

"We're not ripe yet," said Ken Venturi, 26, San Francisco. "But I think it's only a matter of two or three years before a group will develop and completely take the play away from Hogan, Snead, Middlecoff and Ford."

"I don't know who he'll be—Dow Finsterwald, Arnold Palmer or Gene Littler, but somebody will come along who will be the greatest yet."

California Is Tough in NCAA
Baseball Series

OMAHA (AP)—California was cracking the whip today in the NCAA College World Series with three straight wins after having handed Penn State its first defeat in 22 starts 8-0 last night.

The Bears from the West were to go against Iowa State, 2-1 in the double elimination tourney to-night at 7 p.m. EST after Penn State and Notre Dame battled for survival at 1 p.m., EST. Both Penn State and Notre Dame are 2-1 in the series.

California, getting fine pitching and hitting the ball hard, beat Iowa State 8-2 in the second round Sunday.

The Bears got four hit pitching from Kim Elliott last night and scored five times in the first two innings against Penn State.

Five hit pitching by Chuck Symeon marked Notre Dame's 9-0 win over Texas, the pre-tourney favorite because of strong pitching. It was wildness of Texas hurlers that played the biggest part in the sidelining of the Longhorns.

Bob Sudderth and J. L. Smith walked home three runs in the first inning and that was all for Texas in the face of Symeon's pitching.

Jim Kudlinski of Iowa State was the stingiest of all the pitchers, allowing three hits as State eliminated Connecticut 5-2.

Winning blow for Iowa State was Dan Peters' double, that sent home two runners for a 3-1 lead.

Three Game Spread

Five Teams in Close Race
For National League Pennant

By ED WILKS

The Associated Press

Milwaukee's Bob Buhl still has the Brooklyn Dodgers on a string. Cincinnati's Joe Nuxhall is still "all goofed up"—and the National League pennant race is still a tight little sprint, with only a three-game spread covering the first five teams.

Only two games were scheduled in the NL last night.

Buhl, who beat the Dodgers eight times last year, wrapped them up for a second time this season with a four-hitter 3-1 that left Brooklyn and the Braves in a tie for third place, 1½ games behind first-place Cincinnati.

Pittsburgh and Vern Law took care of the Redlegs, 5-2. Law pitched a four-hitter that left the leaders only one game ahead of the Philadelphia Phillies.

The American League scrap saw Chicago's idle White Sox regain a five-length edge over the New York Yankees, who were spilled 9-4 at Detroit.

Boston's Red Sox, with Dick Gernert driving in six runs, walked Kansas City 11-4 in the only other AL game.

Buhl, a 28-year-old right hander who was 3-5 against Brooklyn until he developed his whammy last season, walked six and gave up three of the Dodgers' hits to Gil Hodges.

A two-run homer by Ed Matthews, after an error, gave Buhl the edge he needed in the fourth inning against Don Newcombe.

Nuxhall wound up with his fourth defeat in five decisions still wondering how he can shake a mechanical mixup. The right-hander, 29, says, "I'm all goofed up—and I know what's wrong. I'm not in the groove. I'm letting go of the ball too soon. Up here, at eye level."

His big trouble was letting go of the ball at all in the sixth inning last night when the Pirates smashed a 2-all tie with three runs. Frank Thomas singled home the clincher.

Law gave up a single and a Wally Post home run in the first inning, and two more hits in the fourth while winning his third.

Charlie Maxwell drove in five runs on two homers for the Tigers, who also had home runs from Al Kaline and Harvey Kuenn in taking three of four from the Yankees. Frank Lary won for the first time since May 5, losing a shutout on Mickey Mantle's 15th home run in the sixth, and giving way to reliever Al Aber in the eighth.

Score May Resume
Pitching Shortly

CLEVELAND (AP)—Herb Score may get the word today as to when he can resume his pitching chores for the Cleveland Indians.

The star lefthander arrived here yesterday from Hagerstown, Md., where he has been convalescing from an eye injury at the home of an uncle, Arthur F. Flood, for the past two weeks.

He has an appointment this afternoon with Dr. Charles I. Thomas, an eye specialist, for an examination which may determine when he can resume workouts.

"I know it will be another month anyway," said Score, 24, who was hit in the right eye by a line drive in a game with the New York Yankees here May 7. "Maybe it'll even be longer than that."

Score, whose home is in Lake Worth, Fla., said he planned to go to Florida at the end of this week.

Hank Bauer hit a two-run homer off Aber in the ninth.

The Red Sox smashed 13 hits off loser Alex Kellner and two relievers, with Gernert doing the job with a pair of homers and a double. Ted Williams was hitless in four trips.

Little LEAGUERS

In the baseball action at the Little League Stadium Monday night, the first game was played between the Lions and the Kiwanis. The Lions won with a score of 12 to 5. Two home runs highlighted the game. The Lions catcher, Jim Friedebach, and pitcher, Tommy Robb, made the homers.

The battery for Kiwanis was Don Wilhite and Dan Zarnowicz. The second game was between the Optimists and Sedalia Ice and Cold Storage. Sedalia Ice won with a score of 12 to 4. Glen Whitney hit a homer in the fifth inning. Six other runs were scored in the same inning. Bob Randall was the winning pitcher.

On the mound for the Optimists was Steve Rodewald who was relieved in the fifth by Butch Walker. Lyle Brown did the catching.

Rotary A Minor League Team will practice at 4:30 p.m. Wednesday at Seventh and Warren.

Gernert Stars
For Red Sox in Game with A's

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kansas City couldn't contain Dick Gernert, the first baseman of the Red Sox, yesterday, and Boston rambled over the A's, 11-4, for their third victory of the four game series.

Gernert was batting but .265 going into the game but he pounded out two home runs and a double in three trips to the plate and those three blows were good for six runs.

A seven run fourth inning put the game beyond the reach of the A's.

Alex Kellner was added with his fourth loss of the season against two victories.

The bright spot of the day for the losers was a home run by catcher Hal Smith who had two hits as did Gus Zernial and Lou Skizas, who drove in two runs.

Kellner gave up 8 hits and 8 earned runs in his short stay on the mound.

Willard Nixon notched his fourth victory against 2 losses. He pitched the complete game and scattered 10 hits.

April Seems Actor's Time For Events

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It's enough to make James Garner believe in astrology.

Everything happens to him in April. He was born April 7, 1928. He was wounded in Korea in April 1952. And in April 1957, he learned he was to become a father for the first time, signed a new seven-year contract with Warner Bros. and won his first starting picture, "Darby's Rangers."

Jim is a rangy, dark-haired Oklahoman with just a touch of his native tongue.

He can thank Charlton Heston for his big break. The movie Moses was all set to play Darby, then the deal blew up just before production was to start.

The unexpected has a habit of happening to Jim Garner. Even his acting career was unscheduled; he had no thought of turning actor until he was 25.

He left his hometown of Norman at 16 to join the merchant marine in 1945. His father had moved to Los Angeles, and Jim joined him after his discharge, enrolling at Hollywood High School.

While he was working in a Hollywood gas station, he got acquainted with a lad named Paul Gregory. He was just a soda jerk in the drug store across the street, but he talked big about becoming a producer.

Jim returned to Oklahoma to finish high school and became the first draftee in the state after the Korean War broke out.

Discharged again, he was once more in a quandry about his future. A course at the University of Oklahoma didn't work out, so he returned to Los Angeles. He said that he was walking down La Cienega boulevard when he saw a sign, Paul Gregory Productions. He stopped in.

Gregory gave him a job in "The Caine Mutiny Court-Martial" as one of the silent six—the officers who listened to the court proceedings. For 512 performances, Jim sat and listened—and listened.

He played Lt. Marky on the road for a spell, then returned to Hollywood for a test at 20th Century-Fox. It failed, but he did a good one for Warners and was signed.

Soap Opera Star Defends TV Programs

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—Let's turn over the witness stand today to Muriel Williams, a comely and talented actress who has a few words to say in behalf of television soap operas.

As Lydia Eanfield of "Brighter Day" (CBS-TV, Monday through Friday, 4 p.m., EDT), she has had nearly two years of experience in the daytime serial field.

"As Lydia Eanfield," she says, "I have a husband and have been involved in far more emotional adventures than practically any 'married' woman you can name. But each adventure in itself has not been over-dramatized or overly lurid.

"I think the reason some people criticize so-called soap opera is because they look at one once and fail to enter deeply into the story since they haven't been following it. It's like opening a book in the middle, glancing at one page, and saying, 'This stinks.' Or else someone will sit down and look at three or four serials in a row. That's like eating too much dessert all at once."

On one score Miss Williams had no argument from her inquisitor: the acting in daytime television serials has a high level of excellence.

"Portraying a character over a period of time gives an actor more chance to develop depth than in a one-shot," she says. "It also gives viewers an opportunity to evolve genuine personal reactions to the characters. There's an aura of stability, reality and continuity to the surroundings of a daytime serial."

Occasionally an actor or actress is written out of the script of a soap opera for a while. Thus Miss Williams will shortly fade from the story line of "Brighter Day" for a couple of weeks in order to play in "Anniversary Waltz" at the Sacandaga Park Theater near Gloversville, N.Y.

Born in Dover, N.H., Miss Williams was married to the late Francis Hart when he was manager of the Cape Playhouse in Dennis, Mass. Since her husband's death, she has remained vice president of the Boston model agency which he founded.

PROFILE OF ATOMIC PLANE—Here, generally, is what the nuclear-powered airplane may look like when it is built for the U.S. Air Force. These drawings were made public by F. A. Cleveland of Marietta, Ga., and Clarence L. Johnson of Burbank, Calif., Lockheed Aircraft scientists. Top drawing, looking down on plane, shows power plant inside of fuselage, instead of on the wings. The wings will be thin, clean, efficient. Drawing below, a side view, shows crew compartment far removed from the atomic reactor. Feasibility of an atomic-powered plane becomes more a certainty as scientists solve some of the difficult problems of protecting the crew from radiation.

Thunderstorms, Small Tornado and Rainfall Dominate US Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms rumbled across broad areas in the upper and middle Mississippi Valley, near the Mississippi River during the night. Falls ranged up to more than 2 inches at Quincy, Ill.

Violent weather was reported in the line of thunderstorms in some sections. A small tornado struck areas in Springfield, Ill., damaging several homes and disrupting telephone and power service. No casualties were reported. The twister missed the state capitol building by about eight blocks as it swept into rural areas.

Another belt of thunderstorms extended from South Dakota west and southwestward to northern Utah. Rainfall was more than an inch in many places in Nebraska,
South Dakota and Wyoming.

Girard's Japanese Fiancee Makes Plea in His Behalf

SOMAGAHARA, Japan (AP) — GI William Girard's Japanese fiancee today knelt weeping on the doorstep and grave of the Japanese woman he is charged with killing. She defended the American soldier and begged forgiveness.

Wearing a somber black dress, 27-year-old Haru (Candy) Sueyama told the family of Mrs. Naka Sakai the soldier from Ottawa, Ill., "asked me to come here on his behalf and express his regrets."

The Japanese government charges that Girard enticed Mrs. Sakai, a scrap metal collector, on to a military firing range and then shot her in the back. Girard contends the woman was hit accidentally and his family is fighting in a U.S. federal court to prevent the Japanese from trying him on a charge equivalent to manslaughter.

Miss Sueyama appeared today on the doorstep of the poor, two-room house occupied by Mrs. Sakai's 47-year-old husband Akichi and their six children. Informed of her visit, the widower hurriedly changed from his work coveralls to a kimono and came to the door with two of his daughters. The other four children were in school.

"I am the husband of the woman killed by your man," Sakai said coldly.

"I am so sorry, so sorry," mumbled Candy, breaking into tears. She knelt down on the doorstep beside two chickens.

Sakai's eldest daughter Kayoko, who at 18 has been substituting for her mother in running the household, spoke up: "Your man is a real villain. He murdered my mother in cold blood from behind. He shot my mother twice until his cartridge hit her. How do you think we feel? We are miserable. From time to time we call, 'Mother,' 'mother,' but no one answers. Try to imagine how lonely we are."

Kayoko also broke into sobs. "Forgive me, forgive me, please," cried Candy. "I know how you feel. I also lost my father and mother."

"Be calm, my daughter," Sakai interrupted. "Don't behave like that. She came a long way to visit us. She is not to blame. We must be gracious."

He ushered Candy into the house.

"Tell me what kind of a man Girard is," Kayoko said, controlling herself.

Candy replied: "I have known him for a year and a half. He has been a nice man to me and my neighbors, particularly the children. He has never been a brute or violent man. I simply cannot understand how it happened."

"Well, I think it was an act of cold-blooded murder," said Sakai, "but I certainly have no bad feeling toward you, Japanese like you and I hate crimes but not the persons. I am an ordinary man. Whenever my little girl Yuriko cries at night, 'Mom, Mom,' it breaks my heart. I begin to think it's all a horrible nightmare and that my wife will appear any minute from the next room."

Sakai, also in tears, took the girl to the family altar, which was backed by a large black-topped portrait of the dead woman. Candy began to pray but her voice broke and she crumpled to the floor crying, "Mrs. Sakai, Mrs. Sakai, please forgive me."

Later, after receiving a box of Japanese cakes from Miss Sueyama, the family took her to the mother's grave. It was half a mile walk through wheat and barley fields.

Sakai poured water on the fresh mound and his daughters watched silently as Candy knelt in the dirt. "Forgive me, forgive me," she prayed as tears streamed down her cheeks.

Walking back to the house, Sakai told the girl, "We appreciate your coming here."

"May I come every other day to pray here?" asked Girard's fiancee.

"No, child," the widower replied. "We appreciate your good will, but we don't want you to come often. Your visit strikes our soul and revives memories of my wife."

"I will definitely tell Bill how you feel," said Miss Sueyama. "He has a mother and will appreciate your feelings. He must not repeat such a mistake in the future."

DON'T BE A STATISTIC—This "disaster" scene is in Odeshog, Sweden, where 35 men, women and children join in a grimly realistic plea for highway safety. These "victims" represent 35 persons actually killed or injured in auto accidents near the town, at one of the most dangerous sections of a highway linking Stockholm and Halsingborg.

Manounory To Present His French Cabinet To National Assembly

PARIS (AP) — Maurice Bourges-Manounory today put together a new French government pledged to continue generally the nation's foreign and Algeria policies.

He is scheduled to go before the National Assembly tomorrow to present his Cabinet and officially request Assembly approval. Success, now all but certain, will put the 42-year-old Bourges-Manounory in office as the nation's youngest premier since 1883.

The prospective Premier wound up a lengthy meeting with members of his own Radical Socialists and other parties early today with agreement on a list of 14 Cabinet officers. All but four held Cabinet or sub-Cabinet jobs in the preceding coalition government of Socialist Premier Guy Mollet. Bourges-Manounory served as defense minister under Mollet.

Many ministers, including Foreign Minister Christian Pineau and Robert Lacoste, resident minister for Algeria, both Socialists, are retaining their posts in the new government.

Political Upset Abates Liberal Party in Canada

TORONTO (AP) — A smashing political upset today ended the 22-year rule of Canada's Liberal party and promised the country a minority Conservative cabinet headed by 61-year-old John Diefenbaker.

The Conservatives, campaigning on a "time for a change" platform, won the most seats in the House of Commons elections yesterday but fell short of a majority.

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, the Liberal party chief, is expected to resign this week and recommend that Gov. Gen. Vincent Massey ask Diefenbaker to form a new cabinet.

The Tories will have to rule as a minority government, as the Liberals did after the 1945 election. Leaders of both minor parties said they would not join a coalition cabinet, although both indicated they would support the Conservatives if they put forward a satisfactory program.

It was considered likely, however, that Diefenbaker would not want to try governing for very long with the aid of other groups

Unknown to Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers won't know what kind of soil bank program they will have for wheat — if any — when they vote June 20 on marketing quotas on the 1958 crop of this breadgrain.

Agriculture Department officials had hoped that Congress would take final action on soil bank funds so that details could be announced before the voting.

The House has voted to kill the soil bank acreage reserve after this year, but the Senate Appropriations Committee has voted to keep it another year. Officials said not enough time is left before the referendum to work out the wheat details even should Congress act favorably in the meantime.

but would bring on another election soon in an effort to win a majority.

Stork and Short Wave Send Out Welcoming News

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Joan Dunning took along a portable short wave radio station when she went to Firmin Desloge Hospital Sunday.

She spent most of the day exchanging messages with other radio hams in the St. Louis area.

She and her husband George, a radio instructor at Scott Air Force Base in nearby Illinois, had arranged in advance to have a good-night gabfest at 8 p. m. by radio.

At 6 p. m. it became apparent Joan soon would have to go off the air indefinitely.

She put out a CQ-6 call—the signal for anyone listening to answer. An operator named Mac came in. He relayed Joan's hurry-up message to George at work, by telephone.

George came on the air calling Joan.

Joan to George: "Start addressing the birth announcements. The stork is in sight."

Fifty-nine minutes later Joan gave birth to their third child, Patricia Diane.

Joan was back on the air again yesterday afternoon. She and seven other lady hams held their weekly electronic kaffee klatsch.
